HUSBAND OF EDNA MAY

Became Prominent as Race Horse Breeder, and Had Estate in England.

Oscar Lewisohn, widely known in racing circles as a breeder and developer of race horses, and husband of Edna May, the actress, died yesterday in the Mount Sinai Hospital from the effects of an operation for intestinal trouble. He was 33 years old.

The funeral will be held from Sherry's, where he had lived for a number of years, at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning. None but relatives and intimate friends will attend the ceremony. Mr. Lewisohn's death came as an unexpected shock to his family, which in-cludes Walter and Frederick Lewisohn of Lewisohn Brothers, bankers, and Jesse Lewisohn, who are his brothers. When Mr. Lewisohn went to the hospital last Friday afternoon he was assured that the operation would be a simple one and that he would be out in a few days. The surgical work, however, disclosed complications, and another and more serious querylies bed to be held. more serious operation had to be held. This weakened him so that he lapsed into unconsciousness early yesterday. Just before he died he was able for a at his bedside.

Mr. Lewisohn was a son of the late Leonard Lewisohn. At his father's death he inherited $5,000,000. He immediately went into racing, more as a business of developing the breed of horses than as a aport. He confined most of his activities in the horse breeding line in England, purchasing an estate at Windsor Forest, where he erected a large racing estab-

In 1905 he met Edna May in London, where she was achieving great success as the Salvation Army lassie in "The Belle of New York." At the time he was in the limelight through the purchase of a $1,500 Boston terrier for Miss May. They were married abroad in June, 1907. Miss May immediately retired from the stage.

Their home was made in England until the war started, when Mr. Lewisohn gave up his racing stable in England and gave up his racing stable in England and returned to this country. Since the be-gianing of the war Mrs. Lewisohn has devoted herself to war relief work here A few months ago Mr. Lewisohn was said to have revived his interest in the breeding of horses and was reported to be at the head of a plan to build a new race track in Maryland. He was about to receive a commission in the army, to which he volunteered his services seems to receive a commission in the army, which he volunteered his services so

Dr. Leipziger Buried.

Funeral services for Dr. Henry M. Leipziger, educator and founder of the public school lecture courses in New York city, were held yesterday in the Temple Emanu-El, Fifth avenue and Forty-third atreet. The Rev. Joseph Silverman officiated. After the regular Jewish service Dr. Silverman and Daniel P. Hays, an old friend of Dr. Leipziger, delivered eulogies.

"Of all of his labors in this community," said Dr. Silverman, "that which he gave to the city as the superintendent of the lecture courses transcended everything else. It was the climax of his life. The million people who formed the audience for these lectures each year must not be deprived of that wonderful institution founded by Dr. Leipziger. It must be maintained as the Henry M. Leipziger course, for he gave his life to that work."
